About the teacher:

Lisa Curry has earned her A.S. in Respiratory Therapy and BBA in Business Management. She has worked as an RRT for 33 years, including respiratory education. With her husband John, they have homeschooled their 4 children for 17 years. During that time, she has enjoyed working and teaching in a homeschool tutorial and co-ops. She felt led to combine her experience in the medical field with her passion for homeschooling. Her desire is for homeschool high school students to feel prepared and confident when starting their post-secondary health occupation education.
