

Faith Talk

My Spiritual Checkup

According to Deuteronomy 6, parents are responsible for their child's spiritual development. Parents intuitively monitor their child's grades, friend choices, entertainment, and chore chart but parents must be intentional to monitor their child's spiritual growth. What action steps can parents take to help their child grow spiritually?

Parents and children can utilize this evaluation tool to provide practical next steps.

Spiritual Checkup Instructions:

Step 1: Ask your child to honestly complete the Spiritual Checkup on the back page.

Step 2: Ask your child to select the top 3 areas where they would like your encouragement toward future growth.

Step 3: Many parent-child relationships benefit by taking the evaluations together. When both the parent and the child identify areas of growth, parents can model that spiritual growth is an ongoing journey rather than a destination. A parent's honesty and transparency about their own spiritual journey can enhance the parent-child communication by providing ongoing opportunities for accountability and encouragement.

HomePoint
Building Faith at Home

Place an 'X' on the line at the point that most accurately reflects your feelings about each statement.

My desire for Bible reading:

My desire for prayer time:

My desire to worship the Lord:

My desire to serve:

My choice in friends shows my:

My use of entertainment & social media shows my:

The way I treat others shows my:

My involvement with my church shows my:

